Colour a cosy evening

Colour the room, toys and patterns. Which things would you choose for a cosy evening?

Find the cosy words

Find 10 words. They go across or down, never backwards. Tick each word when you find it.

Colour your comfort things

Colour the backpack and familiar belongings. Which three things would you choose to take?

Make a torchlight story

Draw a little adventure in three pictures. It can be funny, cosy or completely imaginary!

1. Meet your characters

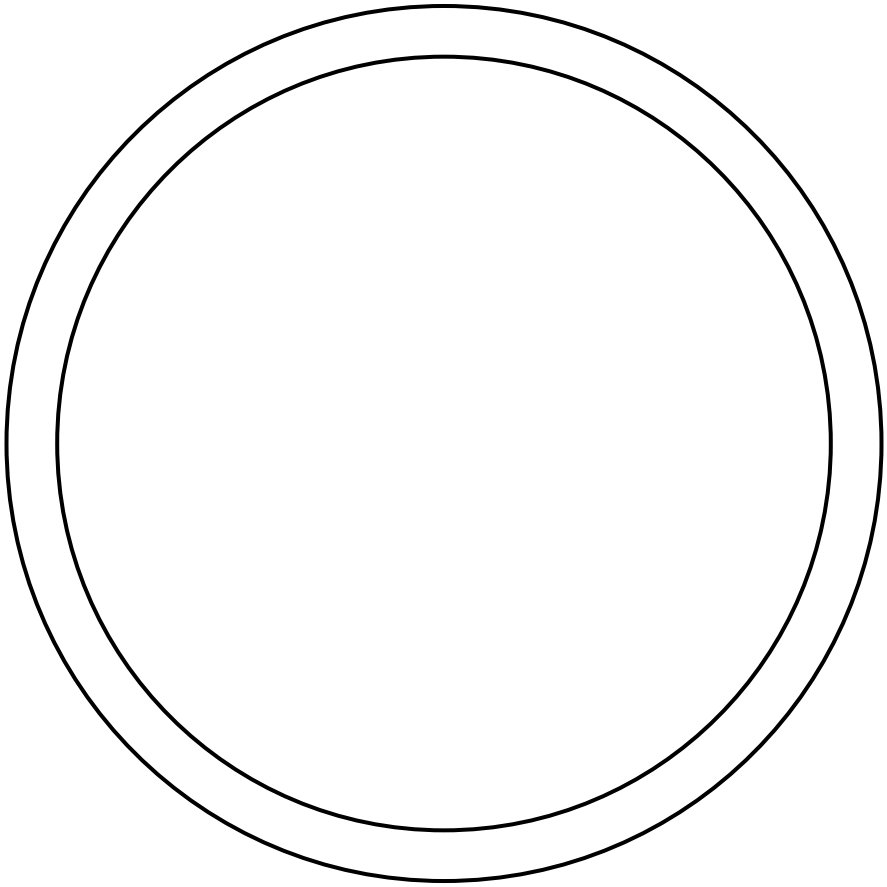

2. Something surprising happens

3. How does the story end?

Plan a pantry picnic

With a grown-up, choose familiar cupboard foods for a meal. Draw or write what you would pick.

MY PANTRY PICNIC

Our meal would be:

A drink I would choose:

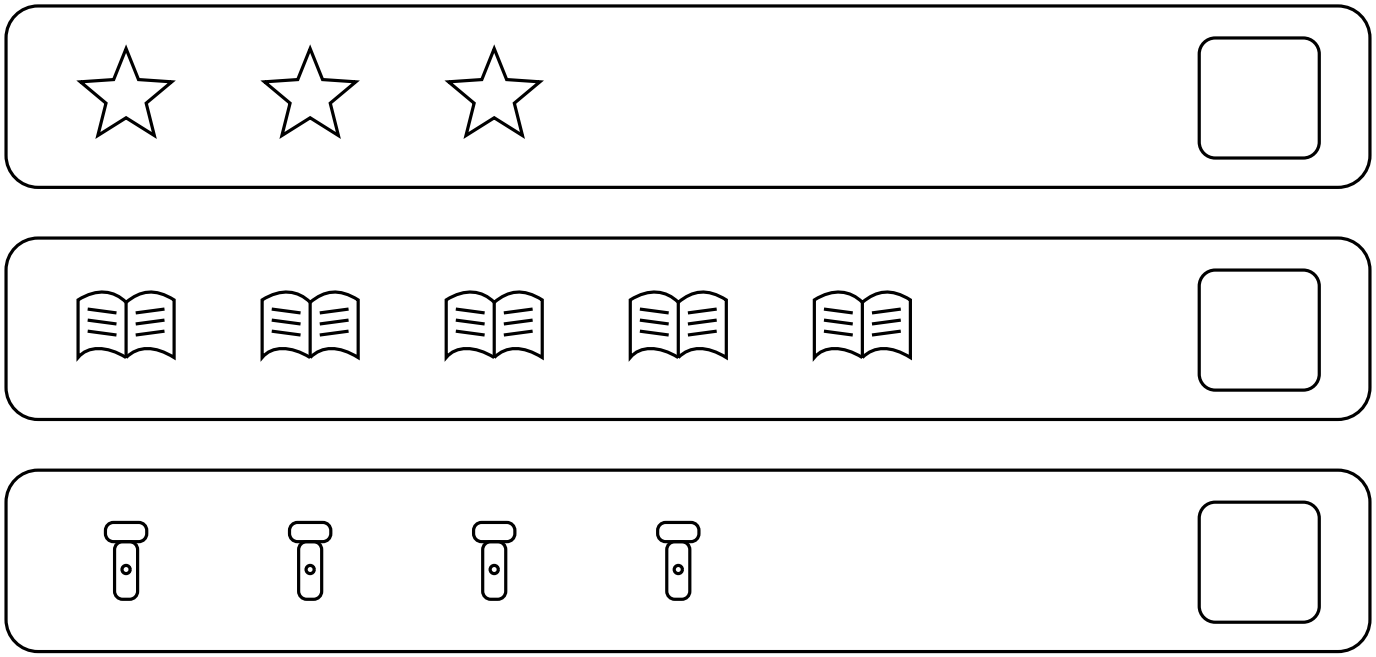

Something we already have:

A grown-up checks food labels and prepares the food. This is a planning activity, so you can do it without opening anything.

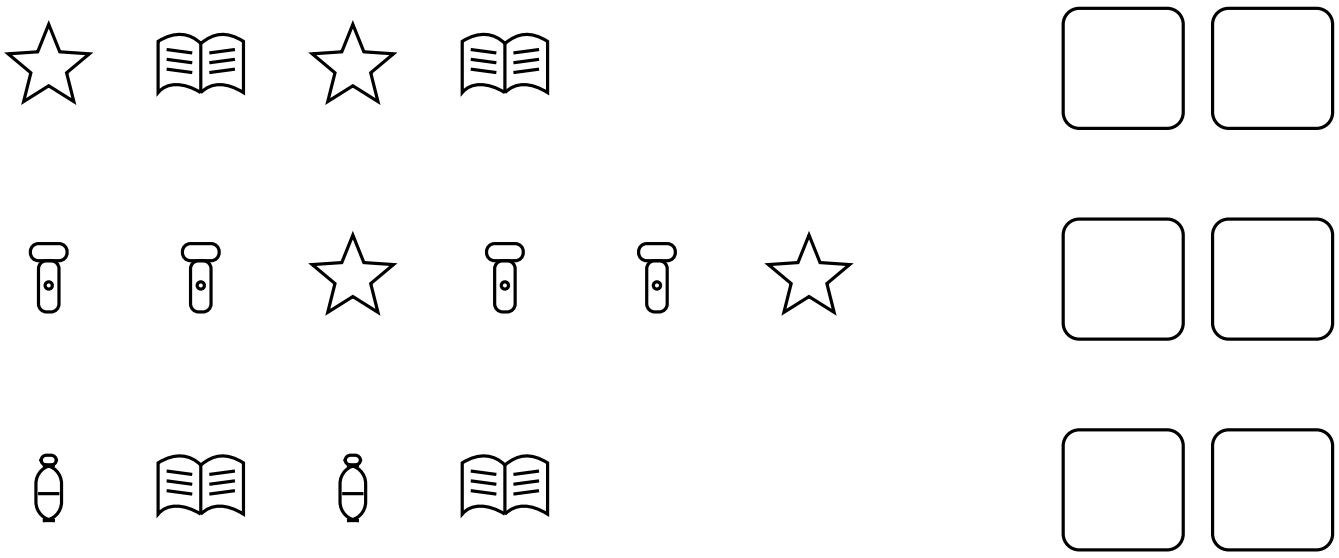

Count, spot and finish

Count the pictures, then finish the patterns. Draw your answers in the empty boxes.

How many can you count?

What comes next?

Six games without a screen

Choose a game together. These work on an ordinary day too. Use enough light to see comfortably.

I spy from my seat

Choose something you can see from where you are sitting. Give its first letter or colour and let everyone guess.

One sentence each

Start a story with one sentence. Take turns adding the next sentence. Can you give it a funny ending?

Guess the animal

Think of an animal. Everyone asks questions you can answer with yes or no until they guess it.

The imaginary picnic

Say, "On our picnic I am taking..." Add one item each turn and try to remember the growing list.

Copy my rhythm

Clap a short pattern. Everyone copies it. Take turns making a new rhythm, starting with something easy.

Draw and guess

Choose an object and draw it on paper. Let the others guess before you finish your picture.

Colour the family pantry

Choose colours for the packets, jars and kitchen. What familiar meal could this family make?

A rainbow after the rain

Colour the house, garden and rainbow. Add your favourite colours to the raincoats and wellies.

Answers and grown-up notes

Keep this page separate if your child would like to solve the puzzles first.

A note for grown-ups

Print the whole pack or just the activity pages you want. Younger children may need help with reading and the word search. Keep pencils and the pack with your family activities, and use only when there is enough safe lighting.

The activities are for enjoyment, not a test of how prepared a child is. Adults remain responsible for safety and supplies. Children do not need to finish every page.
